Knack
"Set Fire, Dream Weaver"

Come twelve o'clock you'll be leaving now
My weak legs would have finally given out
And I'm passed out somewhere between
Commerce Street and your front door

Don't worry about me, honey now
I still got the blood that you gave me
What happened to forever?
What happened to you?

(I won't hold this against you, baby)
'Cause I could never give up if you ever let me go
(I won't hold this against you, baby)
No I would never give up if you ever let me go
(I won't hold this against you, baby)
No I would never give up if you ever let me go
(I won't hold this against you, baby)
'Cause I could never give up if you ever let me go

The sun won't set tonight
Does it have to be this way?
Please don't close your eyes 'til I say
The sun won't set tonight
Does it have to be this way?
Please don't close your eyes 'til I say

Come one o'clock you'll be crying, now
My weak voice would have finally given out
From screaming "I'd rather you kill me than leave me"

(Don't burn your eyes out from trying to see me in the dark
Our time is ending, the lights are fading)

It's your move, so make the wise choice now
'Cause I don't take kindly to cheaters
Was one last look not enough for you?

(I won't hold this against you, baby)
'Cause I could never give up if you ever let me go
(I won't hold this against you, baby)

No I would never give up if you ever let me go
(I won't hold this against you, baby)
No I would never give up if you ever let me go
(I won't hold this against you, baby)
'Cause I could never give up if you ever let me go

The sun won't set tonight
Does it have to be this way?
Please don't close your eyes 'til I say

The sun won't set tonight
Does it have to be this way?
Please don't close your eyes 'til I say
The sun won't set tonight
Does it have to be this way?
Please don't close your eyes 'til I say
