Sit all day pissing away my time
Looking into a crystal ball and I don't know why Living too fast to live too long
I don't wanna die but I don't know yet where I belong

I've had it better than some and I know I shouldn't complain
Though my grandfather told me once that all pain hurts
the same
Your bottle is empty but your class has been filled Now I don't wanna break your heart but I probably will

Some were born to be good, some were born to be bad Most did the best that they could and other wished that they had
If I could return to when I was a child
I'd go get what I'd learned and go back to the wild Go back to the wild
Back to the wild
Back to the wild
