You can have all the diamonds
You can have all the gold
But someday your still goin get old
You've gotta learn to get happy along the way

Take some chances, allow yourself to get lost
Your beautiful baby, your the boss
You've gotta learn to get happy along the way

There's no foe to follow
Only stones left unturned
You must play with fire
In order to get burned

Toss your misery out the door
What are you waiting for?

You gotta learn to get a little happy along the way..
Its alright to change your style
Its alright to smile
Its alright to get a little happy along the way.

A Tough day at the office
And at worse, not at home
Don't want to talk about it, just don't want to be left alone
There's no joy in livin when your givin all and getting none
Its a new beginnin, you've thought you've lost oh honey your the one

You can have all the diamonds, all the gold..
Someday we're still gonna get old..
We gotta learn to get happy along the way...

Get you hat, get your coat babe
Leave your worries on the doorstep
We got to get a little happy along the way
