"Come Around"

Ceramic tile, flourescents, Yellow iodine I can feel your presence Sedated by the heavy medicine Come around Please come around The flowers aren't worth keeping The roses broke my skin I'll pretend your sleeping Or you fainted from the lack of oxygen Come around Come around Don't leave me here to let you down Now I'm going home I've been patient I've waited a lifetime
Now I'm going home I am tired I've waited a lifetime Sentimental letters Brightly colored ink Saying 'please get better' I placed them by the lilies in the sink Come around Come around Don't leave me here to let you down If you could feel it I'd give a kiss If it would get through I'd whisper this 'Not while you're sleeping In my safekeeping' Fading iridescence From your silhouette Sterile luminescence I haven't given up on you just yet
