Lyrics by P. Wagner

They lowered my body in a dark hole.
the dry ground now covers my remains.
I stood at their side and watched them crying.
They can't know, their tears, they are in vain.
All four winds together driving me forever.
I'm not lost, I'm just alone.
I can see, I can hear, I can be, be forevermore...
All four winds together driving me forever.
I'm not lost, I'm just alone.
Where shall I be in this dimension?
Where are the others I await?
Is this existence meant forever?
Is there a door that leads away?
All four winds together driving me forever.
I'm not lost, I'm just alone.
Nailed to a cross of isolation.
My punishment is I'm all alone.
Just alone, alone...
