Hope

The only thing that we have left to hold
In a world gone mad
There's nowhere left to go
Where nothing lasts there's permanence I know

Is there something I can say?
To bring back what once remained
Where is all that we let go?
Where is home?

Doubt

From inside I hear it calling out
Tearing at the truth that must be found
In the end it only brings me down

Is there something I can say?
To bring back what once remained
Where is all that we let go?
Where is home?

If you need a reason
A reason tonight
To cast every doubt
From you heart from your mind
Look to tomorrow and maybe you'll find
Something more
Something more

Is there something I can say?
To bring back what once remained
Where is all that we let go?
Where is home?
