Cry a little, just a little more

I know you've been hurtin'

Well I've been hurtin' too

You say you were wrong for leavin'

But you don't know what you've put me through

Maybe you should cry a little, cry a little more

Just a little, just a little more

And then you might know the way I feel

Maybe you should cry a little, just a little more

I know you've been lonesome

But you don't know what lonely is

You can look in my eyes

And cry tears like this

And maybe you should cry a little, cry a little more

Just a little, just a little more

And then you might know the way I feel

Maybe you should cry a little, just a little more

*Instrumental*

I heard you laughin' just the other day

You were acting like everything's okay

I dont know but it might ease this pain

If you could just maybe.....
Cry a little, cry a little more
Just a little, just a little more and then
Cry a little, cry a little more
Just a little, just a little more
And then you might know the way I feel
Maybe you should cry a little
Cry a little more
Baby won't you cry a little
Just a little more
