that's me staring out my window different man than i was before i was scared with no hesitation kept me running for the door

when i spoke well my words fell away yeah into something that i can't deny i was confronted by a nasty reputation ??? washed me up to see the lie in my mind that was ever so elusive hidden deep beneath a plastic shine i had to wonder if i'd ever really figure out what it was i was trying to find so along was i ever thinking did i ever really understand i was covered by a wave of confusion showing in my shaking hands tonight i was in a situation did i wanna just take control or run but i never checked my opinion still just laying silent in the sun days away

the one mistake that i made
days away
coming in the air to save me now that's me starin out my window different man then i was before i was scared with no hesitation

well the words fell away yeah
i was confronted by a never ending circle washed me up to see the lie

days away
coming in the air to save me
days away
the one mistake that i made
days away

save me now

i see the world far away

days away
days away
days away
days away
