

by Marry Me Jane

"lousy lullaby"

Visit "lousy lullaby" on MotoLyrics.com

You know he dreams about tornadoes, tumbleweeds, and hurricanes
I could blame it on his halos always getting in the way (If I'd known his wings were crooked I'd have pressed them into shape)
Hopped a greyhound left his hometown population 1726 and change
For 60 bucks a broken suitcase his bad luck was my lucky day
Kinda thought we had a mess of time I mistook him for a guy I knew with his shabby hat and his southern eyes
When he played he chipped a piece of me away I stood there hypnotized
Here's a lousy lullaby
Are you warm in winter are there still planets in your eyes?
I'm your ivory valentine May the angels keep you laughing do I have to be alright?
I thought we had a mess of time Dammit how could I?
If I seem a little scattered there's an empty place Where something used to beat Definitely shattered like some stupid piece of china
How pathetic of me
Here's a lousy lullaby
I practice every day so I can keep you memorized I'm your heartless valentine May God forgive me I wish you'd melted in some other sucker's lousy lullaby

Visit by Marry Me Jane page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.