You believe what you wanna believe, but I don't wanna have you by my side Made me see what you wanted me to, but true colours were shown in a fight
No doubt I would be in your life, but there's no way you will be my wife

You're acting desperate like I need you, when really that's not true Sometimes you tell what went down like you knew

Our roads crossed and that was fine,
'cause you are nice when you get what you want But when you lose there's no doubt in your mind, that you will do what it takes to get on

You're pretty, you're nice, you're social, you're great, you are, the perfect one when you're on center stage

I've seen you weak
I've seen you fall
I've held your hair back when you crawled
But never once did I judge you
I know your fears I've seen it all
I've held your hair back when you crawled

For all the love we used to have,
I tried to hold you up when we were done
That was wrong I should have let you go, instead of making you think we were on

But your fragile, your beautiful, your great, you are the perfect one when you're on center stage

Chorus

I know I'll never ever really get rid of that feeling, that I let you down I saw your eyes on that lonely, that frightful evening, darkness that smothered the light

Chorus (times 2)
