I think of all the times we've made up
In the corner of the road
You start to cry and smudge your make up
I put my arm around your coat

The night it seems to envelope you
The stars reflections in the sky
I pull you close and start to whisper
I won't ever let this die

Cause I need you here with me
Put down your tapestry
Let me be all you need
All time

The stars will align for you
Passages climb to you
I'll walk the line for you
All time

You say things happen for a reason
I've told myself that once before
To not believe would be a treason
And there's nothing I want more

And when the golden glow surrounds us
And we're nestling in the sands
You look long at me and linger
And I hold you in my hands

Because I need you here with me
Put down your tapestry
Let me be all you need
All time

The stars will align for you
Passages climb to you
I'll walk the line for you
All time

I need you here with me

Put down your tapestry
Let me be all you need
All time

The stars will align for you
Passages climb to you
I'll walk the line for you
All time
