This great big world
Spreads its Great big arms

Sometimes
For a warm embrace
Or intending to do harm

And our minds soak it all up
And we label everything
Because we're subjects
To the programs
Of the ancient Human Being

And all you think you are
Everything you want to be
Is only happening in
Your reality.

'Cause we decide it
We decide it
We decide it
And so we reap what we sow

We decide it
We decide it
We decide it
And so we reap what we sow

And a trillion miles away
In uncharted galaxies
Swirl the fabric of your thoughts
Manifesting fantasies

But we focus on destruction
Money

And corruption
Until we've found ourselves
Buried in the ground

We decide it
We decide it
We decide it
And so we reap what we sow

We decide it
We decide it
We decide it
And so we reap what we sow

We decide it
We decide it
We decide it
And so we reap what we sow
