I choose my priorities with a consious careful mind . I recycle batteries, glass, cans and paper all the time. I try to finical in what i support and im strict in what i eat. I dont eat any animal products i dont wear them on my feet. I choose not to participate in things i dont like. I dont care for the price is high as long as i know im right. But appearently not everybody acts and thinks this way. And correct me if im wrong, but things is getting worse here every fucking day. Not at any cost at any time will i betray myself, talk the talk and walk the line. Not at any cost at any time and not for anyone. I don't make excuses for being who i wanna be. And no sub personality system can either change or threaten me. Their acclaimed net of protection the military and the police. Is just a token of something fundamentally wrong with this entire human breed.
