Racist issues are subject of discussion again
The conditions are the same, the problem still remains
And just like so many times before
We come to no conclusion, we achieve no more

Yes, I am sure that they mean well
By the T-shirt they sell
But this time I've had it with your crap
I'm on a mission of my own

I just wanna step out side
Strike a blow for these ignorant masses
I just wanna step out side
Strike a blow for you

You could blame it on depression, blame it on whatever you choose
But it's still on the street that people really paying the dues
Yeah, we all want integration, we all want this violence to end
But I ought to think of something better than where
When the violence began

Yes, I am sure that they mean well
By the T-shirt they sell
But this time I've had it with your crap
I feel on a mission of my own

I just wanna step out side
Strike a blow for these ignorant masses
I just wanna step out side
Strike a blow for you, you, you
