They told me I was such a fool to love you
They said that you're the kind who'd never be true Pretty soon the day would come and I'd be the sorry one
But I said that, "I'm not afraid"

Well, I went ahead and my heart opened the door
I gave you so much love, no one could want more You pretended to be mine, how could you be so unkind?
With all the other girls you've played

Well, that's how heartaches are made
That's how heartaches are made

I know you're not sincere and you'll never be
But still I want your lovin' so desperately
I can never let you go, baby, even though I know
Every rule of love you've disobeyed

That's how heartaches are made
That's how heartaches are made
That's how heartaches are made
That's how heartaches are made
