"Drowning"

Somebody put the pieces together
That was last night
A hairpin curve or a blender
Did I lose a fight
I had good intentions
'Till early am
But without your intervention
Nothing good happens then
And I'm drowning
Can't keep my head above to breathe
I've been floating here since seventeen
I'm drowning
The world's already in motion
I'm still in bed
Fuel burning from last night
Still clouds in my head
Sunrise on my eyelids
Roll away
No memory what I did
Doesn't matter today
Try to resist the temptation
overtaken by thirst
Expecting mild damnation
Someone has to go first
