"One More Chance"

Sometimes I still call the phone rings on the wall nobody answers no one's there at all Sometimes I see her my breath skips my mind stirs I hear a voice as soft as a whisper
I want a chance to say to be strong enough to say I love... I want another chance to say I love you I shook when you lied and gave up when I tried to reach you I can't reach inside The day you flew off I cried I'm not soft nobody asked me I would have told them to fly off Pictures don't tell me they can't stop my memory from fading dim Do you remember me The last time I saw you my grey eyes had turned blue you were gone and most of me was too
