let sleeping dogs lie they know something that we don't they just trust everything will be alright you know we tend to think it won't so I think of you in this golden light as we watch the sun go down both wishing it would put up a better fight as morning comes around I'm in a new place a new town and no matter what we say it's gonna happen anyway

you grew up in one of those towns where everybody gets just one tiny square patch of ground and you gotta keep it tidy and neat your mamma kept the nicest one on Montgomery street and you know she thinks, you don't care since you've let yours go flowers have bloomed up everywhere and no matter what you say

it's gonna happen anyway

I got these two friends, they built there own home it's not like they knew how it's not like anybody showed them they just cut some wood, and started to build knowing that there would be valleys, even though there would be hills and one day by the river side they made a perfect circle around to perfect brides cuz no matter what they say it's gonna happen anyway

oh yes anyway
oh

any way you look at it you always gotta try to fit it if it's too big if it's too small if it's got no name what should we call it? any way to have control as if there were a way to know the way the wind blows, the way the wind blows

so I think of you in this golden light
