A hand-me-down hot rod holding down the interstate Life in the fast lane, staying out too late Drunk on summertime, crazy and hard to hold

A car full of dreamers parked in the parking lot Waiting on the world and some girls was a long shot Life was a drug and we were hooked, we didn't know

We'll never be that high again, stoned out our minds on innocence

Used to catch a buzz on the fact that it was Saturday night

We'll never be that high again, tell me why did it have to end

You're only young once but man you're not too old to try

But you know you'll never be that high

I'll always remember when I met Jim Bean

Everybody laughed pretty hard at the first drink

Barely got it down, thought I'd drowned when it took a hold

It hit me like a train to the brain feeling real tall

Twenty minutes later Jim hit me like a brick wall

Never felt as good as the first time that whiskey flowed

We'll never be that high again, stoned out our minds on

We used to catch a buzz on the fact that it was Saturday night

We'll never be that high again tell me why did it have to end

You're only young once but man you're not too old to
try

But you know you'll never be that high

She kissed me in the back seat first time show me how Knocked me off my feet, wish I had that feeling now

I'll never be that high again, stoned out my mind on innocence

Used to catch a buzz on the fact that it was Saturday
night
I'll never be that high again, tell me why did it have to end
You're only young once but man you're not too old to
try
But you know you'll never be that Know you'll never be that high, be that high
