Just another day we're fighting to survive Something different is happening through the day

Take my hand lovely angel don't be afraid There's no fear reaching freedom

As I stay here and listen to my thoughts Fading memories are crawling inside my head

Gentle wind keeps on flowing through your hair Maybe it's time for us to be as one

I'll never loose my pride for you and let you drown me

Before the rain falls down on us
Before our madness goes to far
Before we loose control and leave it all behind

No time to think about the past just let me get into your heart
We dive into the blue beyond this world it's so insane

We'll escape from this town and live on the streets Leave behind all the nightmares and all the pain

Take a deep breath and dive to a new beginning Be your master, be my lover

Run through the storm before the dark is bleeding inside

Before the rain falls down on us
before our madness goes to far
before we loose control and leave it all behind

We dive into the blue
beyond this world it's so insane

Are we the ones to change the world?

Do you believe we can be different?

If we belong to ourselves then it's time to prove it.

Run through the storm until the light is blinding our sight

Before the rain falls down on us
before our madness goes to far
before we loose control and leave it all behind

just let me get into your heart
We dive into the blue
beyond this world it's so insane
