(Heather Rankin)
So hard to let you go
No day passes me by
But I hear your voice
And I miss your warm smile
And the spring is blooming
And the snow has melted away
There's no sun shining
Through the clouds hanging over me
For cold winds chilled my bones
And tears filled my eyes
Our final farewell
Beneath that bitter winter sky
Time heals wounds
It'll see me through
But I'll need many more moons
To forget you
For cold winds chilled my bones
And tears filled my eyes
Our final farewell
Beneath that bitter winter sky
And if my broken wings ever mend
And I'm free to fly again
My wait in vain for joy will end
If we're joined again
Cold winds
