When the sky is falling and the air is burning Just want to close it off and blot out the sun

Goodbye autumn wind Say hello to spring breeze

Swimming over the river, but water gets deeper I'm feeling a stream that is dragging me in I'm circling the whirlpool, going round and down

Give me a blind man's eye
and I'll count all the stars in the sky Drink the hangman's wine,
to cross the river of life

Our powers are weakening, sinking through that hole
All rumblin' and tumblin' while ... downstream But I know a path, yes, I know the way

Give me a blind man's eye
and I'll count all the stars in the sky
Drink the hangman's wine,
to cross the river of life

and I'll count all the stars in the sky
Drink the hangman's wine,
to cross the river of life
