It's all about you...

Love is arguments and saying things that were never meant
Just to hurt the person you're supposed to be in love with Bickering over little things, that didn't mean a thing in the beginning
But now you're letting it grow and blow out of proportion Now you're having trouble remembering reasons for all the screaming
No one's letting up enough to let the two of you diffuse it But the situation ceases to have steam in, breathe in, suddenly laughing now you're saying
"Oh honey, why exactly were we fighting" Kissing upon the lips and the face and you're thinking it's insane to have been so angry in the first place

I don't want to tell the truth
Let's bend the rules
It's not about me
No it's all about you

Wonderful, beautiful, awful torture and terrible Incredible, detestable, necessity
That's incredibly necessary to be happy but horrible Half of a couple is almost impossible
But it's part of the artful patchwork of people
These are bittersweetheartattacks (x2)

Love is laughing and walking and joking in the spring Giggling in hysterics at what your partner said because they said it Catching a glimpse of your profile soaked in sunlight Glittering images in your mind's eye of husband and wife type dreams and fantasies But burying them deep because it is too early Snapping out of your reverie, catch the end of a story
"what was that?"

Rewind momentarily
Now you're sitting and thinking about irrational irritations
Which are irrational to people who don't have to live with them
The feeling's gone, you're worried you might not be able to bring it back And these are bittersweetheartattacks

We're not the generation who forgot how to love
We simply opted out of bothering
