(S.DAY)

My girl, she says she loves me no more,
she says she loves me no more,
she says she don't love me now.
The way she thinks its all a game,
throw me in and out again.
I'll be better off without her.
Hiding from the dragons flame,
I'm in the way and scorched again.
I'll be better off without her.
My girl, she says she loves me no more,
she says she loves me no more,
she says she don't love me now.
Of broken glass, a window pain,
a broken heart, no not again.
I'll be better off without her.
So brain washed and hypnotised,
now I see all of the lies.
I'll be better off without her.
Lonely crow in the middle of a bad dream.
Restless soul in the middle of a scream.
One black crow on a lonely road.
When I wake up my head is still screaming.
My girl, she says she loves me no more,
she says she loves me no more,
she says she don't love me now. (*2)
Now love is gone, I must move on.
Gotta get away, gotta get along. (*5)
