I'm knockin' at your door
And there's no answer
I hear the moans and groans
Of your nasty laughter

I'm kickin' in the door
As your breathin' gets faster
Your trail of clues
Is leadin' to disaster

Once I looked into your eyes
I thought that they were true
Innocence can turn to lies
And now the finger points at you, baby

Shame, shame, shame
You should've known better
Than to cheat on me

Shame, shame, shame
Now it don't matter
So let me be

You've got your own self to blame
Now it's time to feel the pain
Of your twisted little game
It's such a cryin'
Shame, shame, shame
Shame, shame, shame

Did you do your poses in the mirror?
Did you tell him? Baby, baby, please
Did you twist his tongue and bend his ear
Did you have him beggin', beggin' on his knees

Once you looked into my eyes
And told me you were mine
Now I see your cheap disguise
And you're runnin' out of time now, baby

Shame, shame, shame
You should've known better

Than to cheat on me

Shame, shame, shame
Now it don't matter
So let me be

You've got your own self to blame
Now it's time to feel the pain
Of your twisted little game
It's such a cryin'
Shame, shame, shame
Shame, shame, shame

Oh, [Incomprehensible]
There's no answer

Once you looked into my eyes
And told me you were mine
And now you don't know what to do, baby

Shame, shame, shame
You should've known better
Than to cheat on me

Shame, shame, shame
Now it don't matter
So let me be

Shame, shame, shame
You should've known better
Than to cheat on me

Shame, shame, shame
Now it don't matter
So let me be

You've got your own self to blame
Now it's time to feel the pain
Of your twisted little game
Now it's such a cryin'
Shame, shame, shame
Shame, shame
