We've been meeting this way for a while
Always keeping our hearts in denial
But the rules of the game are as such
There are some things you never should rush

With the way that you're looking tonight
It was only a matter of time
Before I got so overwhelmed
And I just could not help myself

I said I love you I didn't mean to
But the moonlight just gave me away
Now that I said it, try to forget it
And pretend it was all a mistake

I'll keep trying, though I'm denying
This feeling that I know is true
Stumbling and falling and still after all
I keep falling in love with you

What's the point of this masquerade
After all of our cards have been played
Now there's nothing for me left to hide
I hope I have fate on my side

Either way I've got nothing to lose
Surrender is all I can do
And if you should be mine in the end
I'll remember it all happened when

I said I love you I didn't mean to
But the moonlight just gave me away
Now that I said it, try to forget it
And pretend it was all a mistake

I'll keep trying, though I'm denying
This feeling that I know is true
Stumbling and falling and still after all
I keep falling in love with you

I said I love you I didn't mean to
But the moonlight just gave me away

Now that I said it, try to forget it
And pretend it was all a mistake

I'll keep trying, though I'm denying
This feeling that I know is true
Stumbling and falling and still after all
I keep falling in love with you

Stumbling and falling and still after all
I keep falling in love with you
