Nobody's Home

Words and music by Ray Boltz and Steve Millikan

This house is full of people

But nobody's home

They all live together

But they're living life alone

Everyone is searching

For their own identity

Missing all a family can be

CHORUS:

Nobody's home

Can't you see the man and wife

Who look so very sad?

Nobody's home

Can't you see the little boy

Who needs his mom and dad?

If they would only take a little time

To love each other

They would find the joy

That they will never find alone

When nobody's home

This world is full of people

But nobody's home

The streets are always crowded

But we walk through life alone

Jesus is calling

Asking us to change

And we could be a family in His name

Nobody's home

Can't you see the man and wife

Who look so very sad?

Nobody's home

Can't you see the little girl

Who needs a mom and dad?

If they would only take a little time

To love each other

They would find the joy

That they will never find alone

When nobody's home

This house is full of people
