It's a shame that you got a prize for your tousled hair and circled eyes you look so pitiable in your cluttered room amidst all the trash and your doom but she's simply addicted to the bloke she's simply addicted to the bloke

The lights are dim, with an orange glow the scenery's got something of a bizarre show you're just standing there humming a song I'd like to know how you're getting along everybody knows what you've done cause you never lie to anyone

So you start to climb the railing to get a better view you're bobbing your head to the music, feeling fucking good someone grabs you by the waist in fear that you could fall and I bet if you fell, you wouldn't care at all she knows that you're dangerous but to her you're like a pill her friends call her insane but she loves you and always will,

she always will
