Oh, don't your conscience ever bother you
Everytime you hear my name
Try to think of all that I've gone through
And hang your head in shame.

Someone came along and took my place
Then you gave me all the blame
You should go somewhere and hide your face
And hang your head in shame.

--- Instrumental ---

When you said I was the only one
'Twas just your little game
Try to think of all the harm you've done
And hang your head in shame.

I should hate you but I love you still
In my heart I've kept the flame
You'll be sorry darling, yes you will
And hang your head in shame...
