When shadows fall I'm twice as lonely
How I miss my one and only
Gone the night like many nights before

Ever since the day I found her
All my world's been built around her
Just like before she's hurt me once more
And I'm walking the floor

Walking slow and thinking 'bout her
How long can I live without her
Teardrops dim these eyes
That watch the door

Though I've got this heartsick feeling
Still I hope that she'll come stealing
Back through the door like always before
I'll forgive her once more and stop walking the floor

Walking slow and thinking 'bout her
How long can I live without her
Teardrops dim these eyes
That watch the door
