Take back your old love letters that you wrote to me

Send them to somebody new

Take back your old love letters the words have grown cold

Breaking my poor heart in two.

Take your rings and everything that reminds me of you

I don't want them laying around they only make me

blue

Take back your old love letters that you wrote to me

Send them to somebody new.

--- Instrumental ---

I love you dearest darling 'cause how they used to start

And I believed each word I read

Take back your old love letters you used to break my heart

Send them to someone else instead.

I don't want them laying around they only make me

Send them to somebody new...
