

Ray Stevens

"Isn't It Lonely Together"

Visit "Isn't It Lonely Together" on MotoLyrics.com

Ev'ry day, it's easier to see
That you're gonna be a mother
So here we are, honeymoon, hotel room,
Married to each other

And the smile upon your trembling lips is brave
But it don't cover up those tears you've cried
And though I'm trying hard, all the emptiness I feel
Is just too big to hide

And we've got nothing in common but our name and our shame
And the blame for letting passion's foolish flame burn wild
And now, we've got to cover up the fact with an act
To atone for our mistake and to protect the child
And we've agreed to try, to try and live a lie

But, baby, I think it's all in vain
We're just not birds of a feather
Isn't it lonely together?

INSTRUMENTAL INTERLUDE

And we've got nothing in common but our name and
our shame
And the blame for letting passion's foolish flame burn
wild
And now, we've got to cover up the fact with an act
To atone for our mistake and to protect the child
And we've agreed to try, to try and live a lie
But, baby, I think it's all in vain
We're just not birds of a feather
Isn't it lonely together?

Visit Ray Stevens page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.