ode to pippi by Hara'kiri The hero of my childhood was stronger than superman always fair, never afraid my hero was a she a little girl with two plaits She was so smart, never had to go to school she followed not one single rule she cleaned by skating through her house with brushes on her feet she wore two different socks and was always there for people in need

She was extremely whippy and could be very lippy but don't call her a hippie
'cause her name was Pippi

She had more muscles than that guy from Brussels She was more punk rock than Sid Vicious and looked absolutely delicious don't you dare to call her a hippie
