Your lies have brought me to extinction your lies have brought me endless pain why live off misunderstanding taint what's called "the golden rule" your misguided faith has run you through

With the horde of followers you have taken taken every bit of trust they need disguised behind the book of being disfiguring the word in meaning masked and blinded, it's not what it seems Disillusion haunts the mind, I'm weakening take my soul, release me of this shame pull me up against the grain smash me through my hollow grave my fate concealed, I'm ready to believe
