I just can't stop looking at your face,
So beautiful
My crumpled sheets and pillow with your taste,
Wish you could stay
But he's waiting
Somewhere out there, he's waiting
So you kiss me and walk out the door
And I hate it
You hold my heart and then you break it
It's such a high and then it's such a low

And it feels like I'm half alive
With you in my heart
I keep fighting a thousand lies
But the truth's in your half a heart of love

And you can't keep on saying that you're mine
Then disappear
You're everything and nothing at the same time
Make up your mind

And it feels like I'm half alive
With you in my heart
I keep fighting a thousand lies
But the truth's in your half a heart of love
Ooh oh oh...

And it feels like I'm half alive
With you in my heart
I keep fighting a thousand lies
But the truth's in your half a heart of love
Your half a heart of love
