This is the last time I sell my soul short to them
Cause I don't need this anymore
You can keep your cold embrace
Seeing right through this only makes me want to stronger
And I can see their faces
Who are they anyway?
This is the last time, this is the last time I swear
This is the last time, this is the last time I care
Beautiful inside she said
Something they will never be They're always pointing
Their insecure hidden jokes and fears at me
Im swearing to myself
I will never be what they've become
And I can see their faces
Who are they anyway?
This is the last time, this is the last time I swear
This is the last time, this is the last time I care
And I can walk away
And I can walk away from here
And I can walk away
And I can walk away from here
Today
This is the last time, this is the last time I swear
This is the last time, this is the last time I care
Today
Today, today, today
This is the last time I swear
