I can feel the walls caving in on me
Can't tell the bounds of my territory
Replaying lies that you granted me
(It's not you it's just me that's the truth)

Feels like I'm wading through the sea
Can't tell my shadow from my enemy
But then my mama always told me

Big boys no they don't cry
It's just a broken heart and it will get better
Big boys no they don't cry
You're gonna get through it like a change of the weather
Walking around like a broken man
Dust yourself down get yourself up again
Big boys no they don't cry
It's just a broken heart and it will get better

Tell me now you're gone was it worth it
Tell me are you happy you deserve it
Tell me everything I wanna hear
(Like ghost are u gonna appear)

You say that I can call you anytime
But I feel like a fool when I'm off the line
Choking back all these tears of mine

I open up the window down the hall
I take your photographs off of the wall
I'm gonna go out like a brand new man
I'm gonna smile just because I can
"I pull myself together"
I'm gonna be strong now
Cause mama I'm a big boy now
