Harry Secombe
"Should've Known"

take me down to where it all began stand beside me and look in my eyes feel my heart beating faster again so scream louder now to make it end got to make it end, cuz i can't pretend anymore

i was wrong
i've been lying
should've known
we were dying

this is letting go, this time for real cuz each day has been harder to take realise that there's nothing i feel that could make me walk backwards again (that could make me go back there again)

got to make it end, i just can't pretend
anymore

i was wrong
i've been lying
should've known
we were dying

i was wrong…