"Movin' On"

Once in a while I creep inside your dusky eyes
Making sure things are all right
But something just ain't right tonight
Like something else is on your mind.

Like it's hard to find the right time
To tell me it's over
And tell me your spent
Tell me what the past four years have meant
Don't speak so softly
Just give me your lips

Tell me how is this all been so wrong
When we're making out to your favorite song
One day I'll see it,
Baby you're just movin' on.

You know I was never unkind
Feels like it's the last time I'll sweep you off your feet
Anything you need, beg you not to leave this wave crash down on me
Here's the wind that you knock out of me

Tell me it's over,
Tell me you're spent
Tell me just what the past four years have meant
Don't speak so softly, just give me your lips

Tell me how is this something so wrong
When we're making out to your favorite song
One day I'll see it, baby, you're just movin on.

Please tell me it's over,
Tell me you're spent.
And tell me just what the past four years have meant
Don't speak so softly, give me your lips

Tell me how is this all been so wrong
When we're making out to your favorite song
One day I'll see it, baby, you're just
Tell me how is this all been so wrong

When we're making out to your favorite song (favorite song)

One day I'll see it, baby, you're just movin' on.

Oh baby don't you leave me now, now. Oh, woah.

How can I let you, can I let you.

No, no no no.
