(M. Jagger/K. Richards)

I know that you like to go out drinking
And you love to have a good time
You came in when I was drinking coffee
Having breakfast round about nine

I won't interrogate you and I never will berate you
'Bout your lifestyle
But where've you been Lost weekend

What's that look on your face
You must have done a walk of shame
Your eyes are all red, get ready for bed
Your hair's all over the place

And look what the cat dragged in Don't you call me a friend
Get out of my house with your dirty old mouse
Take yourself out again

Look what the cat dragged in Yeah, you take it right out again
Yeah, look what the cat dragged in Yeah, take it right out again

Looking at the Sunday papers up with all the latest, it was so quiet
Checking what was going on in Syria and Lebanon
A bad fright, bad fright ain't gonna criticize you and I hate to ostracize you

You had a bad night
Where've you been
Lost weekend

You look like you're totally spaced your mouth's got a horrible taste
You look like a leper, dressed as Sergeant Pepper
Are you going to throw it up in my face

Look what the cat dragged in
Take it right out again look whata the cat dragged in
take it right out again
Get out of my house with your dirty old mouse
Take it right out again

Look what the cat dragged in
Yeah, never do that my friend
Yeah, look what the cat dragged in
Look what the cat, look what the cat, look what the cat dragged in
