She's buck wild with her clothes off every night
Chasing till the morning light
She travels with her toothpaste in her bag
Always trying to find her man

He travels in a train in back
Another heart's gone black
But nature needs a gift sometimes
But she don't believe
That heaven's too far away

She's buck wild with her clothes off every night
Starring till the morning light
She travels with her suitcase in her van
Never will she find her man

He takes another train in back
Another heart attack
But nature needs a lift sometimes
But she don't believe
Forever's so far away
