(Verse 1)

I'm sick of running myself
Into the ground
I need to try
To find my way out
But all of the lights
Bright as they are
Lead back to you
How could I bring myself to be used?
I should have learned from the things that I told myself
I'd never do
But all along
The liar was you

(Show your true colors let them see)

Chorus:

On the surface you shine
Like the diamond pressed to your cheek
But beneath your tricks your just another weakling after me
Like a Rhinestone you shine
But your beauty remains skin deep
And I know just what you are
You're a liar, a fake, a cheat

(Verse 2)

And I tried
Not to forget this
But I choke
On the words that spill from my throat
And spit back in your face
The life I've wasted on you
They may follow you in blindness
Oh, how I'd love to watch your insides curl
At the thought of being alone

Chorus:

On the surface you shine
Like the diamond pressed to your cheek
But beneath your tricks your just another weakling after

me
Like a Rhinestone you shine
But your beauty remains skin deep
And I know just what you are
You're a liar, a fake, a cheat
Yea!

When they see you for what you are I'll light the spark
That will burn this place to the ground

(On the surface you shine)
(Like a rhinestone you shine)

Chorus:
On the surface you shine
Like the diamond pressed to your cheek
But beneath your trick your just another weakling after
me
Like a Rhinestone you shine
But your beauty remains skin deep
And I know just what you are
You're a liar, a fake, a cheat
Yea!

Like the diamond pressed to your cheek
But beneath your tricks your just another weakling after
me
