Every time she leaves him it cuts him like a knife
Every time he hold her close hi knows the reasons why Superboy met Supergirl they learned to fly In the night they find themselves up in the sky up in the sky
And every time she goes away there's something that he ought to say
And every time he holds her close there's something that he wants to know
All the times he waited all the empty nights
All the words he could not say the truth he realised Supeboy's got Supergirl they've learned to fly And in the night they find themselves up in the sky up in the sky
Cause every time she goes away there's something that she ought to say
And every time he holds her close there's something
that he ought to know Superboy loves Supergirl, where they can be, in the sky he search for her there they are free, free just to be Cause every time she goes away there's something
that she ought to say
And every time he holds her close there's something
that he ought to know
she know's it, she know's it
