(Rebecca Lynn Howard/Carl Jackson)

The night is filled with questions
The darkness takes its toll
Why did we take love for granted
How could we lose control
And I wonder as I lie here
Not knowing where you are
Was it hard to be together
As it is to be apart

Was goodbye the answer
I'm not sure anymore
I just might trade the way it is
For the way it was before
And I still can't help but wonder
Is it as lonesome where you are
Was it as hard to be together
As it is was to be apart

It hurts too much to just keep holding on
But I know I've spent a night this long
And I swear it seems like letting go may leave a deeper scar
Was it hard to be together
As it is to be apart
