

Aly & AJ "Something More"

Visit "Something More" on MotoLyrics.com

I didn't know what was in store
When I walked right through the door
Then I saw you over there
Our blue eyes locked in a stare

I didn't know quite what to say
Sometimes words get in the way

I remember the night you said
"Let's go for a ride"
I didn't want the night to end

Would we be more than friends?
Yet little did I know before
We would be something more

In black and white I read the screen
Of all your lines and in between
Then your message on the phone
I saved to hear when all alone

And now I know just what to say
This doesn't happen everyday

And I remember the night you said
"Let's go for a ride"
I didn't want the night to end

Would we be more than friends?
Yet little did I know before
We would be something more

Something more, something more

We would be something more
Something more, something more

I know we're both young
But we know how we feel
We know what is false
And we know what is real

I remember the night you said
"Let's go for a ride"
I didn't want the night to end

And I remember the night you said
"Let's go for a ride"
I didn't want the night to end

Would we be more than friends?
Yet little did I know before
We would be something more

I remember the night you said
"Let's go for a ride"
I didn't want the night to end

Would we be more than friends?
Yet little did I know before
We would be something more

Something more, something more
We would be something more
Something more, something more
Something more, something more
Something more

Â© HALF HEART MUSIC;

Visit Aly & AJ page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.