From the deep I cry
I am needing change in my life
I have let the cold creep in
And lock my ability to feel

Just now a shaft of light shots through my soul
Opening up the windows and the doors
Reaching to the corners and my flaws
Showing my need

I'm running out of time to live
Running out of love to give
Running out of life within
God help me

I don't care who stares
Never want to be what I have been again
Grace has taken over and drawn me in
And I am embracing it

'Cause now I see Your light drawing me close
Overwhelming love I don't deserve
But I'll take the hope You bring
You hold it out to me

Without You I'm running out of time to live
Running out of love to give
Running out of life within
God help me

God help me
Please help me
God help me

Running out of time to live
Running out of love to give
Running out of life within
God help me

I'm running out of time to live
Running out of love to give
Running out of life within

God help me, God help me
