"To Be Loved By You"

On the first day of the year I can't help but wonder why we've been apart so much last year when it feels so good having you here

I am a fool when it comes to expressing my love for you and I know I've showed you in all ways how doubtful I've been these days

But when all the birds gather on the factory roof across the river outside our window the sky turns orange 'cause darkness is loosening its grip over Stockholm I think of how thankful I am

To be loved by you
to be loved by you to be loved by someone like you
