"The Day After Yesterday"

Something is on my mind right now reason being reason pending is that our past is not telling me how how to live my life or deaden my life my story your tragedy is handing me very few insights i lost my train of thought and that train doesn't seem to stop so i throw on the brakes breaks like your life is at stake and i realize it's not me and that's been my tragedy so i'll leave it here today so i left it here today tomorrow has left it here today right here right now and i'm not letting me leave this in my way you can't negotiate this age old war of deception so i took the stand and all of it we've gone our separate ways ours as in my play so let this cold play be the way that i have seen and please come be my guest and realize it's for the best realize it's for the rest
