Where were you when I cried
When I needed you to be here by my side
Now, I've found you've always lied
When you said "I want to, need a place to hide"
Where were you when I died
When my breakdown pushed me right up to the sky
That's when real love replied for a place to cry
Consolation, now
I need you anyhow
All my sorrows will be soaring away
If you want me to stay
Burning bridges lift(?), no more deep lonely cliffs
(loneliness?)
Lies before me if you made up your mind
And say you're mine

Where were you when I cried
When I needed you to be here by my side
Now, I've found you've always lied
When you said "I want to, need a place to hide"
Where were you when I died
When my breakdown pushed me right up to the sky
That's when real love replied for a place to cry
Consolation, now
I need you anyhow
All my sorrows will be soaring away
If you want me to stay
Burning bridges lift, no more deep lonely cliffs
Lies before me if you made up your mind
And say you're mine
Svenne sings with his usual heavy Swedish accent,
It's hard to make out exactly Benny's "dictionary" lyrics
