there's a story about a girl she's so sad and so mad at the world but she hides it she prays for true love peace in every soul on earth no she can't deny it

over and over again
wondering when all this sadness will end things can change but the past still remains

she don't no where she belongs where's the place she used to call home no she don't no where she belongs she drowns in her own sorrows
she don't no where she belongs
where's the place she used to call home
she drowns in her own sorrows
she drowns in her own sorrows
she drowns in her own sorrows
this is a story about a girl

lives unknown in this world she lives behind it she tries over and over again to put trust in her friends but she can not trust them

where's the place she used to call home
no she don't no where she belongs
she drowns in her own sorrows
she don't no where she belongs
where's the place she used to call home
no she don't no where she belongs

she drowns in her own sorrows
she drowns in her own sorrows

every day she cries fighting not to break down catching her breath every day she tries to find happiness in her life is anybody out there?

where's the place she used to call home
no she don't no where she belongs
where's the place she used to call home
no she don't no where she belongs
she drowns in her own sorrows
she drowns in her own sorrows
she drowns in her own sorrows

there will always be someone who finds a way to make her crawl her tears is buried in the sea and this girl.. is me
